Old Friends...

Fr. Jessee Neat, former Rector here at Christ Church, came for a visit earlier this summer. The parish was certainly glad to have an old friend back home. For me, it is truly a small world. Fr. Jessee was a year behind me at the General Theological Seminary in New York City and years later, I have followed him to Chaptico! God's Blessings to him and his wife Jenny, as they begin the next phase of life following Fr. Jessee's retirement this summer!

REFLECTIONS ON THIS SUNDAY'S READINGS

(SEPT. 22, 2019) THE FIFTEENTH SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST—PROPER 20, YEAR C

Welcome to Christ Church. In the liturgy, the spiritual and the material are joined in Holy Communion. This reflects the Christian concern with both matter and spirit. We cannot be faithful to the gospel if we limit our values to either one alone. Today's gospel reading about the unjust steward makes the point that how we use our material wealth is directly related to our relationship with God. If a "worldly" person like the steward uses money to secure friends, how much more should we, the children of God, use our material wealth to gain favor with God and our fellow human beings.

The first reading from Jeremiah reveals how the message of God rejecting the kingdom of Judah pained him. The prophet laments the state of his people even though he knows that their suffering is a result of their own choice to reject their God and their refusal to repent.

Today we continue the series of readings from the first epistle to Timothy. These letters, written after Paul's death by his followers, give practical advice to Christian communities about church life. The church is to be an intercessory body of people who, through their prayer for all persons (even the emperor, their enemy), are the means of bringing about God's salvation.

God's love is for all of creation and we are called in both liturgical worship and daily living to be God's instrument in bringing everything and everyone into God's Kingdom.
